

The Literacy Toolkit

All students benefit when reading strategies are implemented across the curriculum. Not only do they help students make meaning of text, they serve as great study guides to prepare them for related assignments and assessments.

The Literacy Toolkit provides a selection of pre-reading, reading, and post reading strategies to help students be more successful in the classroom. These are particularly useful when attacking everyday content reading and/or complex text. They assist the student in organizing, analyzing and synthesizing information.

Included in the toolkit is a planning guide for attacking expository text, general information about effective reading habits, a variety of strategies, and examples of graphic organizers. The reading specialist and literacy coach will assist in the implementation of these strategies in all content areas.
